

Brussels Sinfonietta

Warm Call - ENG

January 13th 2024

Last week, our children enjoyed a fantastic orchestral workshop in Bruges with Brussels Sinfonietta, a chamber orchestra founded in 2006 with the aim of fully supporting young musical talent.

This workshop is made possible by the support of the Music Academy of Anderlecht and the unwavering dedication of concertmaster Erik Sluys and cello section leader Melissa Cassiman.

As parents, we had the privilege of witnessing firsthand how Erik and Melissa invest all their energy with great passion and conviction to bring out the best in our children, all entirely voluntarily, driven by one great force... their passion for music.

Just like in the collaboration of an orchestra, the strength of one is a stimulating and motivating factor for the strength of another. You strengthen each other.

That is precisely why it would not be superfluous to have some extra hands to support the structured functioning of Brussels Sinfonietta.

Hence this warm call.

Brussels Sinfonietta is looking for committed parents/students/sympathizers to help support the structured functioning of Brussels Sinfonietta in the following areas:

- Support in the organization of music workshops
- Logistic support during music workshops
- Support in the programming of concerts
- Logistic support during concerts
- Support for Social Media (Facebook, Instagram, etc.)
- Support in Audiovisual recordings
- Recruitment of sponsorship

It would be nice to come together twice a year. Reaching out to your numerous responses and enthusiastic engagement.

Anyone who feels called or can contribute any talent is welcome to email:
